

CS-PFR-14-1 Peterson Net wash Sludge – Treat & Dispose

Augean North Sea Services (ANSS) have successfully completed a large workscope to remove, treat and dispose of approx 400 tonnes of netwash sludge from Peterson's Greenhead Base in Lerwick.

The waste was left on Peterson's site by a former tenant and had caused significant issues with disposal due to its high copper and hydrocarbon content. Several waste management companies had been engaged over the previous 5 years to look at how the material might be managed and none had provided a reasonable price combined with a compliant and practical disposal method.

Following sampling and analysis, ANSS arranged for a trial load of 20 IBCs to be delivered by Peterson to our Port Clarence Waste Recovery Park (WaRP). Our WaRP team were able to use the onsite AGM treatment processes to blend the sludge with other waste streams to provide a compliant and cost-effective disposal option.

Following the successful trial, ANSS were able to offer Peterson a regular delivery slot, staggering the loads over a suitable period to ensure treatment capacity was available.

Within 12 months of the initial discussions, all the waste was removed, treated and disposed of at the WaRP and Peterson were able to utilise their warehouse that had been utilised storing this waste.

ANSS were also able to save Peterson a 6-figure sum based on previous quotes provided.
